

Discover ways to move more in your everyday life

www.kentsport.org/everydayactive

Many of us have busy, stressful routines, but finding ways to move about more during our everyday lives can make a huge difference to our health and wellbeing.

Search Everyday Active Kent

Regular physical activity can reduce your risk of:

Dementia by 30%

Type 2 diabetes by 40%

Colon cancer by 30%

Breast cancer by 30%

Hip fracture by 68%

Depression by 68%

Cardiovascular disease by 40%

Source: www.gov.uk

There are lots of ways to move more in your everyday life, and you don't even need to change your regular routine to do it.

Every bit of movement that makes you breathe harder is good for you, so every little change you make will make a difference. It might feel hard at first, so start slow and build from there, and if you have a bad day, just try again tomorrow.

To start with, try to move more three times a day, for just two minutes at a time - just like your five-a-day of fruit and vegetables, this can be your three-a-day of moving more.

Your three-a-day should be made up of moves that make you breathe harder and your heart beat faster, along with moves that make your muscles ache just a little.

Turn over for some three-a-day activity ideas

Getting your three-a-day

You don't even need to change what you normally do – your three-a-day can fit right in around your everyday routine.

What can I do?

Walk up & down the stairs

Star jumps

Shadow boxing

Lift a tin of beans

Dance round the living room

Stand & sit

Stretch on tiptoes

Lift a baby!

High knees

Find more ideas for moves you can do at www.kentsport.org/everydayactive

When can I do it?

Making a cuppa

TV ad break

Picking up the kids from school

Cooking dinner

Sitting at your desk

Brushing your teeth

Washing up

Checking social media

Use any spare moment to move more

Once you feel more confident about moving more, try adding another two-minute burst of activity into your day – the more you move, the better it is for you.

If you're able to, why not try adding a 10-minute walk to your day? Walking is great for your health and can give you a few moments to yourself, to help clear your head.

For more tips and advice on how to get your three-a-day, visit www.kentsport.org/everydayactive and create your own plan for building more moves into your everyday life.

